

Hope for home collapse victims

Top apprentice stars in hot contest

PROGRESS has been made for victims of the Beechwood Homes company collapse in May this year.

New owners of Beechwood, Vic Cavasinni and Cavasinni Constructions, have completed and handed over 25 homes and are working on another 246 projects.

Fair Trading Minister Virginia Judge has told State Parliament the progress continued to alleviate stress caused by the Beechwood collapse.

Two companies have been formed to run the new enterprise – Beechwood Homes (NSW) Pty Ltd and Home Completions Pty Ltd.

They are contacting all consumers who signed pre-contract tender agreements to offer them a contract with the new company.

Ms Judge said home warranty insurer Vero has estimated the cost of claims under home warranty insurance policies at between $6 million and $7 million.

She said her department would continue to work closely with Beechwood Homes and Vero to work through individual needs of homeowners and help them process claims if required.

Patrick Cape, apprentice chef at Eurolounge Castle Hill is one of the best. Picture: JOE MURPHY PP204658

A YABBY tortellini with a barramundi roulade and coriander veloute helped snare Hills chef Patrick Cape a top placing in the Restaurant and Catering NSW 2008 Apprentice Culinary Competition.

More than 340 apprentices entered the the competition which tested apprentice chefs at 14 heats held throughout NSW.

Cape, who works at Eurolounge in Castle Hill and attends Baulkham Hills TAFE, won first place in his heat to find himself in the finals held recently at Ryde TAFE.

The second-year apprentice was named runner-up in the state after whipping up a three-course meal within the strict time limit.

Hygiene and cleanliness were also marked.

Cape's main course was a rolled peppered lamb eye fillet, with pommes Williams potatoes and a port jus.

His dessert was star of anise and vanilla panacotta, blueberry salsa.

LIVING CHOICE  GLENHAVEN

Perfect Match!

You'll be serving up a storm once you've seen our beautiful new tennis courts. Just one of the outstanding facilities at Living Choice Glenhaven.

We could tell you about the bowling green, pool, spa, movie theatre, library, dance floor and leisure centre.

Wax lyrical about our 24 hour emergency response and easy access to local shops. Enthuse about the wonderful new friends you'll make here. But, really, we just want to say this:

Don't delay! Rush in and grab your perfect match today!

Display homes open 7 days

Living Choice Ambassador John Wood

www.livingchoice.com.au

GLENHAVEN

15 Old Glenhaven Rd
1800 797 333